MASKED ROBBERS WRECK SAFE AT SPENCER'S STORE AND ESCAPE WITH BOOTY

Daring Robbery Perpetrated in Night Hours and Bandits Get Away With Between $16,000 and $18,000; Watchman Bound and Nitro-glycerine Used by Store Breakers.

Two masked robbers entered the department store of David Spencer Limited at 9 o'clock on Sunday night, overcame the night watchman, blew the store safe with nitro-glycerine and escaped with money estimated at between $16,000 and $18,000.

WATCHMAN BOUND

J. L. Griffiths, night watchman, was making his rounds, customary every hour during the night, when he was set upon inside the employees' entrance on Broad Street and after a short struggle was forced into submission.

MAKE HAUL

The robbers worked with precision and without undue hurry, but with every caution. The watchman, who was bound and gagged, was taken along the ground floor to the stairway which leads to the upper stories of the building, and was asked to print out where the office safe was.

VISIT OF U.S. FLEET IS OPPOSED BY NEW ZEALAND SOCIALISTS

Wellington and Dunedin Groups Urge Boycotting of Naval Events

Wellington Newspaper Says Welcome Will Not Be Marred By Their Attitude

Wellington, N.Z., Aug. 3.—The Wellington Labor-Socialists have urged publicly that the United States fleet, as a fleet, be boycotted and the Dunedin Labor representation committee has passed a resolution urging all workers to refrain from participating in celebrations arranged for the forthcoming visit.

The Wellington Dominion, referring to the acts of the Labor-Socialists, says editorially: "Communists and Labor-Socialists never appear at less advantage than in dealing with matters of this kind. Their outlook is professedly international, but in practice they seem to delight in attempting to stir up bad blood between nations. This view of the United States fleet's visit is taken by a limited number of men in Australia and is a striking case in point."

KEY OF CITY IS EXTENDED TO KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Lieut.-Governor W. C. Nichol and Mayor Welcome Great Priory

The Sovereign Great Priory of Canada, of the Order of Knights Templar, was this morning warmly welcomed to British Columbia by Lieutenant-Governor Walter C. Nichol, while Mayor Carl Penderay extended an equally cordial welcome to the Knights on behalf of the City of Victoria.

At 10 o'clock a guard of honor, attired in the striking uniform of the Knights Templar, and wearing white cloaks emblazoned with crimson crosses, escorted the Lieutenant-Governor and the Mayor into the lodge room at the Masonic Temple, the visitors being greeted with a flashing salute with swords.

Hon. Walter Nichol was introduced to Supreme Grand Master E. A. Evans, and was given great applause when arising to welcome the Great Priory to Victoria.

CHICAGO WHEAT PRICE RISES

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Active buying ascribed largely to a leading Chicago speculator went hand in hand to-day with a price advance on wheat that in some cases amounted to 5 1/2 cents a bushel. Simultaneously there were Canadian crop damage reports which bordered on the sensational. The sharpest upturn was in September delivery, which rose to $1.59.

U.S. IS DECLARED TO BE CAPABLE OF SUPPORTING POPULATION OF 574,000,000

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 3.—The United States can support a population of 574,000,000, and by applying German methods a population of 574,000,000, it was asserted before the Institute of Politics here by Prof. R. J. McCall of the agricultural economics department of the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

BETTER EXISTENCE

The present tendencies of the growth of population lead us to suppose that man's increase will not overtake the still abundant opportunities to expand the food supply," he said. "We may, accordingly, anticipate plenty of opportunity for the human race to enter a new and better phase of economic existence."

SUGGESTS BEATTY AS GOVERNOR-GENERAL

London Daily Express Mentions Naval Leader For Post in Canada After Byng

London, Aug. 3 (Canadian Press Cable).—The London Daily Express, Lord Beaverbrook's paper, referring to the forthcoming expiry of Lord Byng's term as Governor-General of Canada, suggests Earl Beatty, Admiral of the Fleet, is qualified to be Lord Byng's successor as Governor-General of the Dominion.

The Express says the Governor-General's office practically has become that of an Ambassador of Great Britain to the Canadian people and the atmosphere surrounding the relations between Britain and Canada are peculiarly difficult just now.

FOREST FIRES IN B.C. TAKE MAN'S LIFE AND DESTROY MILLS ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

Vancouver, Aug. 3.—One man had died of burns, a lumber mill lay a mass of charred wood and twisted machinery and fires were burning at several points in the province when officials summarized the week-end forest fire toll of British Columbia to-day.

The man who lost his life was Sam Harlow of Nakusp, whose fatal injuries were sustained in a fire in that district. Another man, suffering from burns, is in the Nakusp hospital.

The Echo mills on Vancouver Island were wiped out Sunday. Thirty-six men fought the flames burning over 400 acres of old logging slash at Salmon Arm, Sechart Inlet, on Saturday. Eight acres of slash at Mile 70 on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway were saved. A small fire at Kerrington, just north of Nanaimo, is well under control.

PASSENGERS SAW FIRE

A spectacular bush fire, covering a large area, near King's Station, Fraser Valley, was fought desperately by more than 100 men Sunday night. The night trains on the British Columbia Electric Railway were run through walls of flame for a distance of more than two miles. It is estimated the fire covered a distance of three miles, starting from beyond Kings Station and extending toward Kennedy Station.

SMALL FIRES

Small fires, all of which are believed to be under control, are burning at Harrison Lake, Popcorn, on the Princeton Trail near Hope, and in the vicinity of Chilliwack.

BISON SENT NORTH TO GREAT SLAVE LAKE REGION NOW RETURNING SOUTH

Edmonton, Aug. 3.—The bulk of the buffalo herd shipped from the Wainwright National Park to the Wood Bison Reserve in the Far North is reported to be on its way back home. According to trappers who have reached this city, the animals are moving through the northern woods, fording rivers and overcoming other obstacles. A large herd is reported to have been seen in the vicinity of Fort Chipewyan, hemmed in by the broad waters of Lake Athabasca and a maze of channels and swamps. More than 1,600 bison were shipped north by rail and scows to room at liberty on the fringe of the Arctic Circle.

CANDIDATES IN NEW BRUNSWICK LINE UP TO-DAY

Standard-bearers of Parties Nominated for Forty-eight Seats in Legislature; Polling Set for August 10; Outstanding Question in Campaign is Hydro-electric Development Scheme; Liberals Have Been in Power Since 1917.

Fredericton, N.B., Aug. 3.—This was nomination day for the New Brunswick provincial general election set for August 10. The returning officers held their nominating courts from 10 a.m. until noon in the shire towns in the nineteen constituencies.

Bright weather made ideal conditions for nomination day and large crowds attended the meetings.

Ninety-eight candidates were nominated for the forty-eight seats in the Legislature. Restigouche, where C. H. Labllois is in the field as an Independent Liberal, and King's, where John E. McAuley announced his candidacy some time ago as an Independent Conservative, are the constituencies which are apparently to have three-cornered fights.

PRISONER JUMPS FROM BOAT HERE

American Deputy Sheriff Reports Escape of Man From Dorothy Alexander

Victoria Police Wirelessly to Look Out For San Francisco Man

Breaking away from his guard presumably during the bustle of landing passengers here, Frederick William Hall, a prisoner under the custody of a United States deputy sheriff, dashed ashore at this port in the early hours of Sunday morning from the Admiral liner Dorothy Alexander, inbound from San Francisco.

The Dorothy Alexander docked at midnight on Saturday and sailed again at 1:30 a.m. In the interval Hall eluded his guard, Deputy Sheriff Elliott, of San Francisco, and disappeared. A wireless from the ship at 2 a.m. while she was en route to Seattle, acquainted the Victoria City Police with the facts and asked a search for the wanted man.

Hall was being brought from San Francisco to Seattle in custody, though for what reason is not known here. His disappearance was not noted until some hours after the ship had cast off from the dock here and was well on her way to Seattle.

Acting on the information at their disposal city and Provincial officers are searching for a man answering to the descriptions given. The bustle and confusion attending on the landing of a number of passengers, and their baggage gave the man his opportunity to escape and he was not slow to seize it.

MANSON GREETED ALL WILD RUMORS WITH COMPLETE SILENCE

Attorney-General, Back at Desk, Decides Not to Discuss Charges

Premier's Statement About His Resignation Final; Pleased With North

Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General, whose political enemies have been filling Mainland papers with attacks against him recently, returned here to-day after a lengthy trip to the north quite unaffected by the criticism. He refused firmly to discuss charges brought against his department and his attitude indicated that he did not consider these allegations had been proved, and that no good could be gained by entering into a controversy on these matters which already have been explained by officials of his department, he intimated.

When Mr. Manson was told that in his absence the rumor of his resignation had been spread, and that Premier Oliver had denied it, he replied: "Well, surely the Premier's statement should be taken as final but I have no comment to make on the report."

MAN REPORTED DEAD IS SOUGHT BY POLICE

Charred Body Found in California Laboratory Ruins Not That of H. Schwartz

San Francisco, Aug. 3.—Henry Schwartz, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Cellulose Company, who was supposed to have met death in his own laboratory at Walnut Creek last Thursday as the result of an explosion, to-day was sought by Sheriff R. R. Yeale of Contra Costa County.

A. J. Nielson, a dental expert who had worked on Schwartz's teeth, declared after a minute examination of the charred body found in the ruins of the laboratory that "this dead man is not Schwartz. The teeth vary widely from Schwartz's teeth."

Schwartz carried $180,000 in life insurance.

Joe Rodriguez, a laborer, has been missing from the Walnut Creek plant since the explosion.

District Attorney A. B. Tinning announced to-day he had withdrawn the permission he had given Mrs. Schwartz yesterday to proceed with the funeral of the body which she insists is her husband's.

You can announce Schwartz is wanted for murder," The San Francisco Examiner quotes Tinning saying. "This body is positively not that of Schwartz."

CANDIDATES IN NEW BRUNSWICK LINED UP TO-DAY

The Grand Falls development is the most pretentious undertaking New Brunswick has ever attempted, but the plan, when completed, according to Premier Veniot, will provide power sufficient to supply the commercial and industrial needs of the province.

New Brunswick operates the Mautaus development, which supplies electrical energy to St. John and points along the Kennebecasis valley, and it is proposed to link that up with Grand Falls plans having been completed for the construction of a transmission line which will form a hydro chain around the entire province.

The Conservatives do not oppose the Grand Falls development but argue the scheme is being proceeded with before sufficient information is available to ensure success. They ask that further data be supplied as to the amount of power which can be generated at Grand Falls, the cost of operation of the plant, and definite assurance with respect to whether they desire the province to stand that in view of the large financial outlay involved the people of the province should be given an opportunity to say at the polls.

Premier Veniot assumed administration of affairs in New Brunswick on February 1, 1924, following the resignation of Hon. W. E. Foster, who led the Liberal Party to victory in the general election of 1917. Mr. Foster retired from the province in 1917, but he retained his seat in the Legislature as one of the representatives of the City of St. John.

The Veniot Ministry included all those who had been members of the Foster Cabinet, but since April, 1924, there have been several changes in the personnel.

The bandits were not taking unnecessary chances last night. They wanted money, but they wanted big money. They did not take small cash. Not a silver piece was missing from the safe this morning. But it was picked clean of bills of all denominations. The money was taken away in a grip removed from the store.

According to the watchman's story, the robbers left the store about 11:30 o'clock Sunday night. This being the case, they would have had plenty of time to make the haul which leaves the Canadian Pacific watchman said to-day. He had left about 9:25 p.m. The bandits pounced upon the watchman five minutes later. They had doubtless watched the engineer make his departure.

As a rule, officials of the big department store said this morning, there are two night watchmen in the building.

On Sunday nights, however, there is only one, who is on guard practically all night. It was when he was making his way from the underground portion of the old store to the newer premises under the Arcade Building, that he was attacked.

The engineer of the store had left the building only five minutes before the arrival of the robbers, the watchman said to-day. He had left about 9:25 p.m. The bandits pounced upon the watchman five minutes later. They had doubtless watched the engineer make his departure.

As a rule, officials of the big department store said this morning, there are two night watchmen in the building.

pressed the hope that while in British Columbia the Knights Templar would note the advantages offered to residents and business men. "You will see here a land of opportunity, such as can be duplicated nowhere else, there are bits of scenery re-creating Norway, Switzerland and even Italy, and development waits on the investor. We have everything here save population."

"Personally, and on behalf of the people of British Columbia I would assure you that everything will be done to make your stay amongst us pleasant," he promised in conclusion.

On behalf of the Knights Templar, Supreme Grand Master Evans declared that the Knights had all been greatly impressed with the present tour, and were looking forward to another visit at an early date.

MAYOR PENDRAY

Mayor Carl Pendray declared himself deeply appreciative of the honor of welcoming the Great Priory to Victoria. "All who are acquainted with Masonry know that if all of us lived up to the ideals of the craft, this world would be a better place wherein to live. The Great Architect has set up a wonderful work in Vancouver Island; we have no extremes of seasons, and Victoria is to-day entering upon a period of prosperity. Call on me for anything I may do to make your stay in Victoria pleasant and profitable," was his closing assurance.

Thousands of citizens yesterday afternoon witnessed the parade of 200 Knights Templar from the Masonic Temple to Christ Church Cathedral where the Sovereign Great Priory was addressed by Sir Knight the Right Rev. Bishop du Penier of New Westminster at the conclusion of a special masonic service conducted by the parish priest, the Rev. F. H. Fatt.

The parade was headed by a Glazeh Shrine Band, the officers of the Great Priory riding in automobiles, preceded and followed by companies of the Knights.

Illinois Death Is Investigated

Mattoon, Ill., Aug. 3.—Coroner Stallman, a former teacher whose body was found in a cistern Saturday on the farm of her sister, Mrs. Anna Seaman, was delirious last Friday night and moaned, "That man made me take something that made me awfully sick."

That was the information given Coroner F. S. Shilling, who has undertaken to solve the mystery surrounding her death, which is a tangled web of facts and rumors, including a sheet of nearly a dozen threatening and anonymous notes, some signed "K.K.K." and "Three Boys and Two Girls," "Mrs. So. and So." and with other inexplicable signatures.

The strange situation leaves the probability that Miss Stallman was poisoned, Coroner Shilling said, although he added that it might have been suicide, but not by drowning.

Alone: "Mae is wearing her hair shorter every day. I do believe! What on earth can be her idea?" Maxine: "She's fallen in love with a barber."

Great Britain, and in the second place, the rest of the Empire. The tangle of European commitments has tended to throw Canada into the diplomatic lap of the United States, which has resolutely determined to keep out of Europe, the newspaper says.

This makes the choice of the next Governor-General a matter of great importance, the paper adds.

TERM SOON TO EXPIRE

"Of these qualified for the task and likely to be free to accept," The Express continues, "Earl Beatty would appear to be the most obvious choice. His term in the Admiralty will expire almost at the same time as Lord Byng's term as Governor-General and he would certainly be very acceptable to the Dominion. His temperament is peculiarly suitable to that of the Canadians. He possesses a personality which radiates and has

A Tale of Two Widows

One receives each month a cheque for $100 from the Imperial Life. She lives comfortably in her own home, free from worry or anxiety over money matters.

Her husband, when alive, invested his savings in Imperial monthly income assurance, adding an extra policy every time he felt he could save another dollar a week.

The other woman is a janitress in a down-town office building. Her husband earned just as much as the first man. But he speculated with his savings, and at his death left his widow penniless—in fact, with family debts to pay.

Now, what about your widow? Will she be the respected and welcome guest of your present neighbours and acquaintances? Or will she be forced to join the ranks of poorly paid female wage-earners? There's only one answer—if you care.

TARIFF DISCUSSION IN U.S. IS GROWING

Republicans May Not Be Able to Keep Subject Out Next Session of Congress

Washington, Aug. 3 (Canadian Press).—It is beginning to appear doubtful whether the President and the Republican high tariff leaders can keep down the tariff issue. In spite of the statement some time ago that the Republican chiefs had decided not to permit tariff revision the next session of Congress, the agitation for revision is going on and is proceeding from several directions. In the first place, the European countries that owe the United States want duties lowered in order that they may pay in part in goods. Importing interests want the rates lowered. International banking interests that want to see the foreign debts funded and disposed of in order to increase the value of the private loans in which they are concerned are agitating for lower rates. Then, too, there are the farmers. The outcry of farming interests to the effect the rates are too high on the things the farmers buy is growing stronger and stronger and it may become a most serious matter for the party in power. Some of the influential farm papers are stirring the farmers to revolt on the tariff. Farm members will bring the matter up next session, and at the same time renew the demand for the passage of the McNary-Haugen bill to promote agricultural exports while shutting out agricultural imports. Meantime, high tariff interests in this country are clamoring that the rates must be kept up. What they really fear is that public pressure may force Congress to take up the issue of revision of tariff rates, and once this is done that Congress will proceed to cut rates. A combination of Democrats and Progressive Republicans might be able to make such a cut.

DEVELOPMENT IN KOOTENAY POWER

New Plant at Lower Bonnington Falls Opened by Hon. T. D. Pattullo

Bonnington Falls, B.C., Aug. 3.—In the presence Saturday night of from 500 to 600 guests, representing the civic and business leaders of the communities of Nelson, Trail, Rossland and Grand Forks and local residents, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Provincial Minister of Lands at 8:30 o'clock opened the switch that set No. 1 generator whirling and brought into service the new No. 1 plant of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company at Lower Bonnington Falls.

The plant has a hydraulic development for 60,000 horse-power, but at present only the first two electrical units of 20,000 horse-power, are being used, the power being needed for the Trail plants of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, of which the West Kootenay Power and Light Company is a subsidiary.

At a banquet preceding the opening, Mr. Pattullo was toastmaster, and himself proposed the toast to the power company, L. A. Campbell, vice-president and general manager, responding. Another speaker was C. A. Cotterell, assistant general superintendent of the C.P.R. for British Columbia.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL SAW FORT NORMAN

Lord Byng Continues His Tour Down Mackenzie River to Arctic

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—Under ideal weather conditions and in excellent health, Baron Byng of Vimy, Governor-General of Canada, continues to view the interesting sights the Northland has to offer him, according to a wireless dispatch by way of Edmonton received by the Canadian Press here last night.

Hudson's Bay Company posts, mission schools and churches, Royal Canadian Mounted Police barracks and the meeting of several overseas veterans now members of the police detachments in the North Country, occupied the attention of the Governor-General and his party on Thursday and Friday.

An interesting visit was paid to the Imperial Oil Company's well at Fort Norman, where the Governor-General inspected the workings and property.

Friday afternoon Fort Good Hope was reached, and the Catholic mission and church under the care of Rev. Father Robin were visited, as well as the posts of the Hudson's Bay Company and the Northern Trading Company.

At the police barracks, the Governor-General had a long chat with the officers and men, and it was there he met several who had served in France during the Great War. The dispatch received last night was filed from the steamer Distributor, on which Lord Byng is making his trip.

STEALING SCOTTY'S HONORS—At an international piping contest held recently in Paris it was judged that M. Jousin de Comense of Czechoslovakia made the best "music" come out from his bagpipe. CHURCH CHANGES TO BE DISCUSSED

New York, Aug. 3.—Conflicting majority and minority reports of a commission of the Protestant Episcopal Church on provincial organization were made public today, fore-shadowing a clash in the general convention of the church in New Orleans next October.

Fourteen bishops, clergymen and laymen signed the majority report, which favors extension of the powers of the provincial or regional organizations composed of adjoining dioceses. The minority objects to this on the ground that it would break church unity by producing sectional feeling.

The outstanding recommendations of the majority are that provincial organizations shall prepare budgets for work in their province, that appropriations based upon these budgets shall be made by the National Council of the church to the provincial organizations and distributed by them and that missionary bishops within each province shall be elected by the synod of the province.

LABORITES CHANGE POLITICAL PLANS

Big Business Executives Are Asked to Assist Dry Forces

Washington, Aug. 3 (By the Associated Press).—Assistant Secretary Andrews of the Treasury, in his efforts to rebuild the prohibition enforcement organization, has mapped out a plan to draw into his new corps a dozen or more big business executives and indications to-day were that the plan would be successful.

Mr. Andrews has for several weeks been conferring with leaders of the Citizens' Committee of 1,000, which includes Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, John D. Rockefeller Jr. and other leaders of industry and finance and this group has agreed to aid him in obtaining such sufficient ability to give him hope for drying up the country's wet spots.

EARLY TRIAL FOR CHICAGO ROBBERS

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Speedy justice will be meted out to Joseph Holmes and Jack Wilson, the two captured robbers of the crew of five who held up the fashionable "Drake Hotel" in Wild West fashion last Wednesday.

Indicted less than twenty-four hours after the robbery, the men will be brought to trial at once unless State Attorney Crowe's plans miscarry.

With them, if he is found, will be tried William Mullenbach, fifth member, who escaped with $4,000 after an assistant hotel cashier and two of the robbers had been killed.

A reward of $7,000 has been offered for his capture. Mullenbach, Holmes and Wilson are charged with murder. Gold medals will be presented to six Lincoln Park policemen who participated in the gunfight in front of the hotel as the robbers fled and the taxicab chase over north side boulevards in which the two robbers were killed.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT AND KILLED

Yakima, Wash., Aug. 3.—Raymond Weaver, fourteen, was shot through the heart and instantly killed Saturday night in Toppenish, Wash., when a revolver being twirled by Everett Truitt was accidentally discharged. Both were visiting in Toppenish and with other boys were playing in the yard of friends. Truitt was showing how he could whirl a six-shooter on his finger when a cartridge exploded and killed his playmate.

RUBBER EXPORT CONTROL CONTINUED

London, Aug. 3.—The Colonial Office has announced that permission would be granted for the exportation from Ceylon, the Federated Malay States and the Straits Settlements of seventy-five per cent of their rubber production is held to prove the British Government has not modified its views regarding automatic operation of the Stevenson rubber scheme. This view is that the Stevenson plan, within the coming six months' period, will provide the market with sufficient supplies of rubber without recourse to any exceptional relief such as has been suggested by rubber interests in the United States. The Government's view seems to be that the present rubber boom is quite temporary and will gradually subside. Hence the Government for the present will content itself with watching the situation carefully. In the rubber market here the prevailing opinion is that United States consumers themselves are much to blame for having failed to take advantage of the cheap prices prevailing in 1923 and 1924.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Sammie Stuck

Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis)

Sammie and Susie Littlelall, the rabbit children, were hopping about in the deep clover which grew in front of their burrow house. "Come here, my dears," called their mother, standing in the kitchen doorway. And wherever Mrs. Littlelall stood there, and called in that way, Sammie and Susie knew that something jolly was going to happen. Nor were they disappointed this time, for when they had hopped to where their mother stood smiling at them she handed out two little apple tarts, with powdered sugar and jelly on top—oh, most delicious!

"Are they for us?" asked Susie, hopping her paws. "One for each of you," answered Mrs. Littlelall. "Take them over in the shade of the grape vine and have a play party." And when the rabbit children had done this Susie said: "Oh, Sammie! I know what let's do!" "What?" he asked her. "You go get Uncle Wiggily," went in Susie, "tell him we have some lovely apple tarts and ask him to come to the play party." "That will be nice," Sammie answered. "But didn't we ought to have more tarts if Uncle Wiggily comes?" he asked. "There are only two—one for you and one for me, but none for Sister Littlelall—I mean none for Uncle Wiggily," spoke Sammie. "I'll give him half my tart," offered Susie. "I love Uncle Wiggily and he always is so kind to us." "I'll give him half my tart," offered Sammie. "I'll give him half my tart," offered Susie. "Then you hop over the fields and through the woods and tell him to come to the play party," suggested Susie.

Sammie twinkled his pink nose, and giving another look at his apple tart which Susie had placed, with hers, on a large mushroom, which was to be the party table, the little rabbit boy hopped off. "I'm so hungry for that apple tart I can hardly wait," said Sammie to himself. "I wish we had three that would be one each. But maybe Uncle Wiggily won't want all of his when Susie and I each give him half of ours. Then there'll be the short cut to the hollow stump bungalow. Then I'll get there quicker."

But alas! As Sammie was hopping along the short cut, which led across the brook, he stepped into a soft, marshy place, and, before he knew it, he was stuck fast in the mud. First one paw was caught, and then the other, and Sammie could pull neither one out.

"Oh, help! Help!" cried the little rabbit boy. "I'm stuck! I'm stuck!" Now it happened that Uncle Wiggily had gone down to the edge of the brook to gather some watercress for Nurse Jane. He heard the cries. "Who did you say you were?" asked the busy gentleman. "I'm Sammie," was the answer. "And I'm stuck."

"Sammie Stuck! Sammie Stuck!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I don't know any one named Sammie Stuck. I know a rabbit boy named Sammie Littlelall, but none named Sammie Stuck." "Oh, my name isn't Stuck!" cried Sammie. "I mean I'm just stuck in the mud! I'm Sammie Littlelall—and I came to invite you to an apple tart party. Susie and I are going to give you half of our tarts!" "That is very kind of you," said Uncle Wiggily. "But first I must get you out of the mud. Sammie!" Then the busy gentleman held out to Sammie the end of a red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, and, grasping this, Sammie was soon pulled out of the sticky mud. "Wash your feet in the brook, where there is a gravel bottom so you won't sink down," said Uncle Wiggily. "Then, when I take the watercress to Nurse Jane, I'll go to the play party and help Susie eat the tarts."

"There're lovely tarts," cried Sammie. But little later at the play party around the mushroom table, Uncle Wiggily only took a tiny nibble off each half tart and said: "That's all I can eat, my dears."

JUBILEE W.A. TO HOLD TAG SATURDAY

Women Will Appeal For Funds For Hospital Work; Taggers Needed

The Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital will make a public appeal for funds on Saturday through the medium of a tag day. The auxiliary has been doing splendid work for the hospital for many years, and their steady, untiring efforts helped materially to bring about the consummation of a long-cherished aim—the new hospital wing. But although the new building is at last an accomplished fact, there still remains much to be done to maintain the efficiency of the institution, and the auxiliary will continue to work with unabated enthusiasm for the provision of those thousands and one "extras" which, while not counted among the stern essentials of hospital equipment, yet are necessary to the comforts and well-being of the sick and suffering. Taggers are earnestly needed to assist in the collection, and volunteers willing to assist will be gladly welcomed on telephoning Mrs. Herbert Pendray, 2585.

Shingled Ones Are Told Treasured Locks Useless

London, Aug. 3.—Girls with bobbed and shingled locks, who had been carefully saving the hair they had cut off for use in the event of a change in hair styles, have received a shock. It was stated recently that bobbed hair changes in color, and on examination of the treasured package of hair at home, the bobbed one usually finds there is a difference. Consequently, many packages of hair have found their way into the waste basket the last few weeks.

ENGLISH PARISH SENDS MISSIONARY

Rev. A. G. E. Munson Goes to Tofino; Accompanied by Bishop Schofield

The Bishop of Columbia left Victoria on Saturday for the West Coast, accompanied by Rev. A. G. E. Munson, who has recently arrived from Portsea, England, to take up mission work at Tofino.

The appointment is the outcome of a visit made to Tofino a year ago by the Rev. Mr. Southam vicar of Portsea, who was so impressed with the work of the mission and its need of an incumbent that on his return to England he took up the matter with his parish. The parishoners at Portsea decided to undertake to supply a missionary to the Tofino district, and Mr. Munson is the first incumbent. He will remain for two years, and on his return to England Portsea Church will again fill the post.

An especial interest attaches to the appointment, in that Bishop Schofield was ordained at Portsea Church, and worked there during 1896 under the present Archbishop of York, Dr. Lang, and it is in direct compliment to the head of the Diocese of Columbia that the parish in England has undertaken this responsibility in the remote Vancouver Island settlement.

Defends German Policy In War

"Seek the Truth" Title of Book Written by Ex-Crown Prince of Germany

Berlin, Aug. 3.—The former crown prince has written a book, "I Seek the Truth," with which he takes his place among those seeking to refute the accusation of war guilt against Germany.

"Who would cavil at Blomberg, at Kaiser Wilhelm II," he asks "for having conducted an expensive policy, when all those powers allied against us had been pursuing the identical policy for many years? At all times those rulers and statesmen enjoyed the greatest prestige who had succeeded in increasing their nation's prosperity. For centuries the paramount object of those nations who became Germany's violent accusers had been their own aggrandizement. By what right then is Germany stigmatized as a would-be devourer of the rest of the world?"

The writer points out that England managed to conquer one-fifth of the globe and says that France grabbed numerous overseas possessions, in many instances with the most ruthless means. Even the mighty Russian realm, which he says was capable of supporting double its present population, is described as striving to extend its vast East-Asiatic domain to the shores of the Pacific.

"But Germany," the writer asserts "was begrudged the few colonies she had acquired almost without shedding a single drop of blood." The writer then goes to some pains to dispel the widespread belief that the old-time monarchial set was responsible for the imperial policy of expansion. It is stated emphatically that the conservatives before all others were the ones to offer unrelenting opposition to the acquisition of colonies.

England is told that, living in a glass house, she is not justified in finger-pointing at others for an infringement of Belgian neutrality. A detailed description is given of the bombardment of Copenhagen by the British navy in 1807 and the looting of the Danish fleet, all without a declaration of war.

The pre-eminent objects with the view of getting at the truth, the former crown prince considers to be the annulment of the note signed by Clemenceau June 16, 1919 which furnished the commentaries to Article 231, establishing Germany's war guilt.

"Not before the spirit of Versailles has been destroyed," the book concludes "will Germany, Europe, all humanity be at peace."

Cordova Bay Well Prepared For Its Annual Regatta

Fine Programme of Sports
Arranged For Wednesday at Summer Resort

Orphans to be Entertained, Expect Biggest Day in History of Place

With everything in readiness the famous Cordova Bay Regatta will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 5. This regatta has been held yearly for the last ten years and has grown in such proportion as to rank as one of the leading beach attractions of the summer season.

The regatta course is laid out in such a way as to give the spectators every advantage of witnessing the events. No charge is made for collection taken, and all citizens and tourists are cordially invited to attend.

The regatta held under the auspices of the Cordova Bay Recreation Club, which is made up of residents and campers at Cordova, always provides keen competition. The club puts up many important trophies as well as numerous smaller prizes.

The Norris Cup won last year by the Little Arctic will be kept by the club for the men's single race, which is 200 yards and return. Many young paddlers are practicing to take the cup away from Allen.

The Little Arctic (open) 100-yard swimming cup, donated by C. C. Smith, and won by Tommy Wellburn last year, has to be won three years out of five to be retained.

Allen Penderay's title. Allen Penderay will try hard to hold the cup for the men's single race, which is 200 yards and return. Many young paddlers are practicing to take the cup away from Allen.

With many other events of interest, such as the mixed double, four some canoe and raft, dingy and flat bottom boat races, the spectators are assured of a good day's sport, and many thrills should be served up.

The field events will start at 1 o'clock sharp at the south end, and the orphans are asked to use the Little Arctic right-of-way, and not to go through private property. At the north end visitors are asked to use McMoran's right-of-way.

The orphans from the Porters' Home will be entertained for the day, transportation being arranged for by the club. On arrival at the bay they will be entertained by Mayor and Mrs. J. C. Penderay.

The evening programme will be taken up with dancing at the different pavilions. At the Little Arctic Pitts' augmented orchestra will be in attendance. At McMoran's Corde's melodic dance trio will play all the latest dance hits.

Good transportation has been arranged, stages leaving the corner of Douglas and Johnson Streets ever half hour.

The programme of events is as follows:

WORLD VISITOR SAYS

U.S. Railroad Man Struck by Engineering Feats in Mountain
Division

Consolidation Going on in American Roads, Official
Declares

Bank, Alta., Aug. 2.—"Canada's railway system is not equalled anywhere in the world," states Thomas G. Taggart, assistant to the president of the Illinois Central Railroad, in an interview at the Banff Springs Hotel.

"Nothing but a large vigorous corporation could attempt the construction of the Canadian railway system," he declared, "and the discipline of the American engineers could learn a good lesson here on starting and stopping without disturbing the sleep of their passengers; that is one of the greatest nuisances we have to contend with on many of our American roads."

The entire network of American railway systems, gradually being consolidated into several big systems and modeled after the systems now in vogue in Canada.

Mr. Taggart believes that this amalgamation of the smaller systems into the larger ones is the best trend of railway history has taken in the United States. It will lead to better efficiency, cheaper rates and larger undertakings of construction, he observes.

The Illinois Central is now taking over other railways, said Mr. Taggart, and there is hardly a big system in the United States that is being involved in the same task, he declared.

TUNNEL MARINE
RAILWAY SECURES
SHIP CONTRACT

Will Repair Sandheads Lightship Battered Off Mouth of Fraser River

The contract for the repairing of the Sandheads Lightship, battered by seas off the mouth of the Fraser River recently, has been awarded to the Tunnel Marine Railway Limited here, it was announced by the Department of Marine to-day.

The work will take in the neighborhood of six days after which time the Lightship will be taken back to her regular station.

The two men who man the Sandheads Lightship told a dramatic story of the gale which caused the damage to her bulwarks and carried her power boat with its davits away.

For twenty-four hours the crew fought rolling drums of oil in an effort to get them over the side before they cracked open and set fire to the ship. In the course of the struggle one man was half washed over the side, and was only saved when his companion hauled him back just as he was about to go over the side at the point where the light had been smashed. Both men will return in the ship when she goes on station again.

THREE THOUSAND PLAYERS WERE USED IN PRODUCTION OF THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

Cecil B. DeMille Explains Casting of Great Biblical Spectacle Now Being Screened at Dominion Theatre Here.

Cecil B. DeMille, in commenting on the casting of "The Ten Commandments," a Paramount picture at the Dominion Theatre to-day, says: "Each part had to be given careful consideration. Over three thousand players were used in the production and each had to conform to certain specifications. When it was announced that casting was about to start our offices were flooded with people. There must have been at least five applicants for each job."

"A man with the strength, physique and good looks of an Apollo was needed for the role of Pharaoh. Those who have seen the picture know that Charles de Roche did full justice to the part."

"The heroic figure of Moses was played by Theodore Roberts in a manner that no one can ever hope to equal. He was my first, last and only choice for the role and I could not rest content until Roberts had assured me he would take the part."

"Pharaoh's wife is played by Julia Faye. The costumes of ancient Egyptian royalty were different from those of to-day. In order to do them full justice a woman who combined pulchritude and fine acting was needed. Miss Faye filled the part perfectly."

"In the picture Miriam is shown as the priestess of the Golden Calf. Beautiful, young, enticing it could have been written for none other than Estelle Taylor."

"Aaron, priest of Israel, was a role for which forty well-known actors were interviewed before one was chosen. A fine old actor in the person of James Neill was entrusted with this important part."

"Terrence Moore was picked from Hollywood's hundreds of young juveniles to play Pharaoh's son. The boy was the type I was after. Egypt's first born was proud and cruel, and Terrence passed all tests with flying colors."

"Among the three thousand extras could be found beautiful women, handsome youths, crying babies, and old patriarchs. Eight hundred cavalry men were loaned us by the government to drive the Egyptian chariots in the wild ride across the desert. Six hundred dancers trained by Kosloff appeared in the colorful Golden Calf sequence."

"Added to all these players, one must not forget the nine hundred horses, one thousand cattle and hundreds of other animals used in the Biblical scenes. We weren't able to pick them up in the desert. Men had to travel hundreds of miles and act as traveling animal casting agencies in order to collect them."

"Casting was not the least of our worries in making 'The Ten Commandments.'"

Maurine, aged four, was very fond of playing with Billy, a little boy who lived across the street, and would often run off and go to Billy's house."

One day just after Maurine's mother had brought her home, her grandfather was giving her a little lecture.

"When I was a little boy," he said, "little girls didn't go to see little boys, but let the boys come to see them."

Maurine stood in deep thought for just an instant. Then, brightening, she said: "Yes, but times have changed, Grandpa."

dian. In "One Way Street," his latest picture, he plays a comedy character. He has created roles in "The Girl of the Golden West," "Souls for Sale," "The Conquest of Canaan" and "The Gold Diggers."

"One Way Street," adapted from Beale Davis' novel of society life is showing this week at the Playhouse. "The world-famous musical comedy, 'Madame Sherry,' owes its popularity very largely to the music. At the Playhouse this week Miss Mona Warren will be heard in 'Every Little Movement Has a Meaning of Its Own.'"

Eileen and Audrey Bennett have musical number of a lilt that makes pleasant hearing and the whole show is one of the very best of its kind.

"Yes Auntie" is Coliseum Feature Starting To-night

"Christine of the Hungry Heart" is Film Attraction

Variety is the spice of the stage and the Coliseum Company is making a name for itself by its choice of not only the types of play but also the characters themselves. This week the play chosen is "Yes, Auntie," and from all reports it is going to be well up to even such an outstanding success as "The Crimson Cocoon."

The cast is practically the same as last week with the addition of Vangie Beilby and Eileen Allwood.

There were two Florence Vidors on the Thomas H. Ince lot at Culver City, Calif., during the taking of the First National picture, "Christine of the Hungry Heart."

One was the screen star who took the title role. The other was a huge pink walking and talking doll, presented by Director George Archibald to little Dorothy Brock, age four, who plays with Miss Vidor in the picture.

Dorothy had just finished a rather strenuous scene with Miss Vidor when Director Archibald handed her a huge box, carefully wrapped. The little tot opened it with the help of her father, and found the doll almost her own size.

"I have a Dorothy doll now," she said. "I'll call it Florence Vidor." Little Dorothy has won the hearts of Coliseum Theatre patrons, where "Christine of the Hungry Heart" is being shown.

"They say Robinson is becoming a great actor. Well, I've only heard him speak once, but it was certainly a treat to listen to him."

"What did he say?"

"What'll you have?"

Patsy Ruth Miller Plays at Columbia In "Head Winds"

Story Adapted from Saturday Evening Post Feature of Same Name

"Head Winds," the Universal feature co-starring House Peters with Patsy Ruth Miller, which opened at the Columbia Theatre to-day, is a thrilling story of the sea, its people and its romance, thanks to the able hand of Director Herbert Blache.

The keynote of "Head Winds" is novelty, for it deals with an unusual situation in an unusual way. For instance, in the story House Peters is cast in the role of a millionaire sportsman who in order to win the love of the girl he loves finds it necessary to kidnap her and spirit her away to sea. As Peter Roslyn, the wealthy yachtman, House Peters is seen in a role which is acclaimed to be his greatest screen characterization.

"Head Winds," adapted from the Saturday Evening Post story of the same name from the pen of A. M. Sinclair Will, is the third production which Peters has made for Universal, his other two being "The Tornado" and "Raffles."

In "The Tornado" Peters was seen in the role of a lumberjack who battled the elements to save a small northern village from devastation from a tornado, while in "Raffles" the star portrayed the role of the suave amateur crackman. His versatility is well exhibited in "Head Winds" for the role calls for an interpretation of a difficult character.

Patsy Ruth Miller, who has the leading role opposite Peters, plays the part of Patricia Van Pelt, the headstrong, impetuous shrew, with whom Peters is in love. Miss Miller, who will be remembered for her work in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," where she played Esmeralda opposite Lon Chaney, does some of the best work in her career in "Head Winds."

MUSCLE SHOALS POWER PLANS ARE TO BE DISCUSSED

Washington, Aug. 3.—The possibilities of public ownership and operation of the power project at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, are said to be increased by the friends of public ownership. They are encouraged by several developments.

One of these is the announcement that Senator Underwood of Alabama will retire. He has been the foremost advocate of the private control of Muscle Shoals. Senator Norris of Nebraska, who blocked the plan of Underwood, has recently returned from Ontario and is more enthusiastic than ever in favor of public ownership and operation of power plants. He intends to make a harder fight than ever for this idea at the next session of Congress.

Another factor is the power development in New Brunswick under the power commission of that province. It has recently obtained a permit for the development of the Grand Falls project. Senator Norris and others who take his view look on the development of power in New Brunswick as well as in Ontario as affording strong reasons why this country must take up with the public ownership and operation of power.

A WARNING TO WOMEN
Mrs. Boffe was reading the evening paper when she suddenly laid it down and remarked to her husband:

"Just fancy, Albert! It says in this paper that a woman, in looking after another woman to see what she had on, fell out of a window." "Well," replied her husband, "that only goes to show that women, in trying to follow the fashions, can go too far!"

"THE RAINBOW TRAIL" IS POISON PLOT FOILED

BRILLIANT WESTERN STORY CONCEIVED BY ZANE GREY

Detroit Accused of Trying to Kill Friends of Girl

Dynamic Tom Mix, Appearing in Current Picture at Capitol Theatre, Gives Vivid Interpretation of Western Frontier.

Tom Mix and Zane Grey! The screen's most picturesque western star and fiction's most brilliant narrator of western life again combine in motion pictures. The dynamic Tom Mix has already portrayed two-fisted characters of Zane Grey's in "The Last of the Duanes" and "Riders of the Purple Sage." Now comes "The Rainbow Trail," which opens to-day at the Capitol Theatre.

Tom once more comes to the fore with a vivid interpretation of the historic frontier westerner, adding to the fictional qualifications of the story the daring the fearlessness for which he has been long noted. Exterior scenes for "The Rainbow Trail" were made in the beautiful Yosemite Valley.

Lynn Reynolds long associated with the western star in the capacity of director, held the megaphone in this one, too. Anne Cornwall plays the leading role opposite Tom Mix and George Bancroft, Diana Miller, Carol Holloway, Lucian Littlefield, Fred De Silva and Mark Hamilton are cast in strong supporting roles.

WELSH Eisteddfod ATTRACTS 10,000

Throngs Attend Musical Event; 3,000 Persons Take Part in Competitions

Puella, Wales, Aug. 2.—The Welsh Eisteddfod, or national festival for the encouragement of music and literature, opened to-day with 10,000 persons in attendance. The competitions in singing, drama, poetry and band contests which feature the festival have attracted more than 3,000 entrants.

Delegation from practically all the Dominions and colonies of the Empire and from the United States are contributing to the throngs attending the festival.

The Hugginses were very proud of their son who was at college. He had made a name for himself at all outdoor sports, especially football.

He was holding forth one evening at dinner when the local minister was the guest of the family. "Oh, yes, Jack," said the minister, "athletics are all very well in their way, but you mustn't neglect your studies for them, you know." "That's what father says, too," was Jack's reply. "But father never gets up and cheers when he hears me quoting Latin in the same way that he does when he sees me playing football."

Above, at left is Miss Louise Havers, 30, who received the candy. Below are Charles Henderson, accused of sending it, and Miss Freda Efrusy, who said he bought it at her father's store.

DETROIT, Aug. 3.—A little pasteboard box, nearly full of pieces of chocolate candy, on a table in the criminal court here.

Around it revolves one of the strangest poison mysteries that has ever come to light here.

Miss Louise Havers, 30, floor clerk in a hotel here, the girl to whom the candy was sent, told the court how narrowly she had escaped death.

After opening it she noticed some of the pieces looked as though they had been tampered with.

HAD IT ANALYZED
So she called Charles Henderson, who had been a friend of her family for more than a score of years. On her suggestion, she said, Henderson took the candy to a chemist to have it analyzed.

Then the chemist reported that in half a dozen of the pieces he had found sodium cyanide, one of the deadliest poisons known.

Detectives investigated and presently arrested Henderson as the sender of the candy. It was at his trial that Miss Havers told her story.

Miss Freda Efrusy, 21, whose father conducts a confectionery here, testified Henderson had bought a box of candy from her shortly before Miss Havers received her poisoned sweets.

STUCK AT RIVALS

But police did not accuse Henderson of trying to kill Miss Havers.

Instead they asserted he was trying to strike, through her, at Alejandro V. Martinez, Mexican consul here, and his vice-consul, Carlos Grimm.

Both had been friendly with Miss Havers, and the police charged Henderson, knowing that Miss Havers seldom ate candy herself, had taken it to grant her she would offer it to them.

Grimm, in fact, testified he was offered some of the candy, but by chance selected a piece that had not been tampered with.

Henderson was accused of sending the candy because of jealousy.

OBJECTED TO FRIENDS

Miss Havers testified Henderson frequently objected to her men friends, telling her they were not good enough for her.

Henderson met these charges with a steadfast denial, pointing out that it was he who took the candy to a chemist for examination.

TONY, THE WONDER HORSE
A Lynn Reynolds Production

Fearless in the Face of Danger Lassiter Defied His Foes—and Beat Them

The scenes in this William Fox production were photographed in the Yosemite Valley, where Nature, with a generous brush, offers startling glories in color; where the Master Sculptor has created in gigantic form, fantastic carvings for men to marvel at.

The story, the sequel to "Riders of the Purple Sage," will carry you along, gripped by its deep, human drama and its tense climax. Tony, the horse you have admired so often, is in the picture with Tom.

SMASHED SHIP MAKES PORT SAFELY—After being hit amidships by the heavy tanker, Edward Luckenbach, at the Ambrose Light off New York, the Sally Wren, a small coast craft, was able to keep afloat on account of lumber cargo and was towed to New York Harbor. This shows the boat with most of her starboard bulwarks cut away by the crash.

MUTT AND JEFF

IN DENVER THE TOURISTS FARED LIKE KINGS: A BIG RECEPTION WAS HELD IN THEIR HONOR IN THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ROOMS. THE ELECTRIC WIRING SYSTEM WAS OUT OF COMMISSION. BUT MUTT AND JEFF REPAIRED IT IN THE AFTERNOON. THE ROTARIANS GAVE THE BOYS FIVE GALLONS OF GAS.

JEFF, WHY DON'T YOU TRY SOME OF THESE WAFFLES FOR LUNCH?

THEY LOOK TOO MUCH LIKE FRIED CROSS-WORD PUZZLES AND YOU KNOW HOW I HATES CROSS-WORD PUZZLES NOW!

CATCH HOLD OF TWO OF THEM WIRES, JEFF. FINE! FEEL ANYTHING?

(NO.)

WELL, DON'T TOUCH THE OTHER TWO, THERE'S 3000 VOLTS IN THEM!

THIS IS THE FIRST TIME A BABY CARRIAGE WAS EVER PUSHED UP PIKE'S PEAK! IT'S A RECORD!

FAME IS OURS AT LAST!

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

—By GEORGE McMANUS

SERIAL STORY "THE LOVE CYCLE"

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

Mansfield found him a stimulating and charming companion. He envied him his man-of-the-world polish, but most of all he envied him his freedom to pack his trunk overnight, if the whim seized him, and journey to the uttermost parts of the world. Mansfield would have given years of his life to go to Europe, the Orient, Africa. There was money enough to indulge this desire now, but Helen wouldn't hear of it. She detested the inconvenience of travel, declaring that she liked her own fire-side. When she made her toilet mornings and evenings, she wanted to find her brushes and towels and soap in their accustomed places and not have to dive through trunks and traveling bags to locate them.

So Mansfield put aside a dream for the second time in his life and traveled vicariously on Harrison's vividly worded descriptions.

When, with the latter, he came out of the club, the winter night, he said, shrugging into the depths of his topcoat:

"Where to now?"

"Right around the corner," Harrison replied. "I'm going to take you to the apartment of a little friend of mine. There's usually something going on there, cards and a few interesting people, a couple of drinks and a smoke. Even if no one happens to be there to-night, Dora's interesting enough."

Mansfield caught himself hesitating and cursed himself for a domesticated lapdog. It had been on the tip of his tongue to make some excuse when he heard that Harrison contemplated taking him to the apartment of a woman. He had no women acquaintances outside of Helen's friends, all wives of his own friends. He knew Helen would never understand if she ever learned of him going to a woman's apartment with Harrison.

Helen was the type who could never be persuaded that there could be any virtue in an unmarried, independent woman who had men friends. To her, there was the potentiality of evil in any association of men and women outside of the relationships of father, brother, husband or fiancé. So Mansfield accompanied Harrison to Dora Davidson's with a distinct sense of disquiet and misgiving. He comforted himself with the thought that he couldn't very well get out of going now, and it would never happen again.

He didn't suspect that this was the first of a series of evenings which would stretch through a year.

THE NEW WOMAN

Dora Davidson's apartment reflected her personality in a clever fashion. She had none of the conventional articles of furniture in vogue at that particular period. It seemed that she must have combed the antique shops thoroughly to collect such quaint old pieces of mahogany, such a tapestry dim with age, a painting or two which was obviously of ancestral origin—though not her own. She had, here and there, brilliant pieces of color in lacquer ware or Ming, and there were quaintly framed little mirrors tucked in odd corners to reflect the pleasing ensemble.

She herself was gowned in black on the evening when Mansfield first met her, a soft, silken, clinging black, in a period when other women were wearing stiff heavy fabrics with flaring silhouettes. There were red pendant earrings drooping from under her smoothly dressed hair and a heavy chain of the same red ornaments encircled her soft throat and fell nearly to her knees.

She looked so foreign that Mansfield remarked it and inquired if she were not Spanish.

"American," she said laughingly, "but everyone makes the mistake in my nationality. As a matter of fact my grandmother was Spanish and I resemble her more closely than I do my own parents."

"Everyone on the boat last year took you for a foreigner," Harrison remarked. "Miss Davidson and I crossed on the same ship," he explained to Mansfield. "Quite a coincidence her coming to make her home here, wasn't it?"

Mansfield agreed, but he wondered just how much coincidence there was about it. Later when he got to know her better, he took back that thought, believing it to be unworthy of a charming and talented woman.

"Where are all your satellites to-night, Dora?" Harrison inquired. "Looks unusually quiet here."

She nodded languidly, leaning gracefully back on a divan covered with brocade pillows.

"There are a number of big parties in town to-night, I believe," Harrison laughed and lit a cigarette.

"All the husbands doing escort duty, eh?"

She smiled and Mansfield, watching her with a fascinated which he could not resist, noted that there was something a trifle feline and malicious in the curve of her lips over her little white sharp teeth.

"Too bad," Harrison went on, with Helen settling herself before him to recount the petty domestic troubles of the day.

He yearned with all his soul for a stimulating evening, with worthwhile topics under discussion. He wanted to play cards for actual money and not for the silly little trophies which Helen and her friends provided as prizes. He wanted to hear Dora Davidson play Chopin at her quaint old-fashioned piano under its brocade scarf, with the shaded light falling softly on her satiny hair and soft ivory throat.

But he resolutely put his desire from him and, pleading another engagement, went home to Helen and domesticity.

It often happens that a good resolution backfires, that the devil takes a hand in shaping our conduct when our intentions are most virtuous.

When Mansfield arrived home that evening, he found the house unlighted and strangely quiet. There was no scent of food suggesting the approach of dinner. The maid, inquiring hastily from the pantry, informed him that Mrs. Mansfield and the children were at her mother's.

There was a note on the desk which explained.

He found it and read in Helen's school girl hand, which had never changed with the years:

"I learned something this afternoon which pained and distressed me. A woman friend of mine, who was also a friend of yours (until she learned about you), came this afternoon and told me that her husband told her that you, with that odious Harrison, had spent the evening with some impossible creature who seems to be the friend of every man in town, but is not spoken to by decent women."

"I don't want to believe it, but this friend is always truthful and I am so upset that I have gone home to talk things over with mother; there must be some explanation and I hope that when you receive this, you will come to me and make it."

"HELEN"

Mansfield reread the note three times while anger rose in his heart. He forgot that he had ever suffered from a guilty conscience. He experienced only the anger of the primitive male who feels his right to freedom questioned. If Helen had come to him weeping, he would have asked forgiveness for a thoughtless indiscretion, but when she took him to task thus openly and demanded an explanation as a sovereign from a subject, his pride was up in arms.

He tore her letter into shreds, replaced his hat and coat and went to the club where he picked up Harrison. After dinner they both went to Dora Davidson's.

THE END OF A ROMANCE

Meanwhile in New York, Jane was facing the wreck of her brief romance.

Things had come to such a path that she realized the futility of keeping up the pretense of marriage. Her husband was a changed man. It seemed almost as though the simple ceremony which had linked the simple lives had been a witch's abracadabra which transformed the gay, debonaire, generous suitor into a surly, indifferent, half drunken husband.

Waiter: "That little manicurist looks to be pretty well fixed."

Herbert: "You bet! She's making money hand over hand."

CROPS ON PRAIRIE BENEFITED BY RAINS

Cooler Weather Also Reported; Rust is Seen, But Little Damage Yet

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—Fairly general showers over the major portions of the prairie provinces during the past week combined with cool weather have been especially favorable for the growth of late grains, and have been an important factor in helping grain to fill and in retarding rust development, according to the weekly crop report of the Canadian Pacific Railway's agricultural department, issued to-day.

Rust is fairly widely distributed in the southern parts of both Manitoba and Saskatchewan, but reports indicate very little damage has been done, and it is expected rains will not suffer badly if present weather conditions continue for the next week or ten days. Earlier sown grain appears to be beyond harm from rust. Cutting has started at many points. Sawdust is reported working at some points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, but the pest is no more prevalent than in average years, and the situation is not at all alarming.

Grass cattle continue to come forward in large numbers to the local market, and prices of unfinished stock have declined. Hogs are bringing returns, with prices showing improvements.

MANITOBA CONDITIONS

In Manitoba the weather since last report has been good, cool temperatures assisting in filling the grain and keeping back rust which, in parts of the South, was showing a tendency to develop. There have been scattered showers in some districts, but rain is required for late oats and barley and for second crop of alfalfa, sweet clover and feed. In the Brandon area and from there to Virden later crops are showing effects of the drought and some wheat is white tipped. Wheat on the whole will yield well if conditions continue favorable.

Oats also is promising. Barley is good, and some of the early sorts are already cut. Rye is a fair crop, despite its thin appearance in the early spring.

Cutting of wheat in some points in Southern Manitoba will start this week. The hay crop throughout the province is exceptionally heavy.

IN SASKATCHEWAN

Conditions throughout Saskatchewan continue favorable. Wheat, which is in the filling stage, is doing well and benefiting from the present cool weather. There is a lack of moisture in the Southwest, as previously reported, and in some sections of the Northwest. Rain is also required along the Langkan, Colony and Outlook railway lines. There is very little stem rust, and the weather for the past week has not been conducive to its spread. Summer fallowing is practically completed, and the farmers are busy taking off a splendid crop of hay. Wheat cutting has commenced in some parts, and other districts will commence this week.

RAIN IN ALBERTA

Showers have been fairly general in the Southern parts of Alberta, but were very light. Rain of the previous week and local showers since have considerably freshened crops, and were particularly helpful in the Southern part, where grain, though damaged, had a chance for recovery. Rye threshing has commenced at purple Springs.

Along the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway farmers have completed summer fallowing, and are taking off an abundant hay crop. Weather conditions are favorable for the crop, which is filling nicely. Several areas require rain, especially Wembley, Grand Prairie and Berwyn.

BRITISH COLUMBIA FRUIT

In British Columbia the loganberries are at their height, and are marketing heavily. Transparent and Duchess apples are on the market, and are sizing well. Apricots, early peaches and peach plums are starting to move in small quantities, as are semi-ripe tomatoes.

From the Kootenay and Arrow Lake districts Royal Ann Bing cherries are beginning to move.

"Excuse me! But your brother Dick has been over here telling me all about the fish that he caught and I'd kind of like to hear about something else that happened!"

PROTECTION AGAINST MOSQUITOES

Certain protective mixtures applied to the skin are of great value in warding off mosquitoes, black flies and similar pests, especially when the insects are very numerous. A number of formulas for such mixtures are given in a pamphlet on the methods of protection against mosquitoes and black flies just issued by the Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. A mixture recommended by the author is composed of three ounces of oil of citronella, one of spirits of camphor, one of oil of tar, quarter an ounce of oil of pennyroyal and from four to six ounces of castor oil. Another mixture consists of two ounces of oil of citronella, one-eighth an ounce of pennyroyal and two ounces of castor oil. The castor oil is included to prevent injury to the skin. Tallow may be used instead if it is desired to have the mixture in the form of a paste.

When the insects are abundant it is necessary to apply the mixture at least once every half hour, using liberal quantities and rubbing it thoroughly over the hands and face. Care should be taken to have a sufficient quantity of a mixture when on an extended trip in the woods. At least an ounce per person per day is necessary if the flies are any way abundant. The mixture should be carried in a small aluminum flask or screw top tin, but not in a glass bottle as it is apt to break.

POLITICIANS TO RACE AT TORIES' BIG PICNIC HERE

Competition For Conservative
Members to Feature Willows Gathering

A fifty-yard dash for members of parliament and senators is one of the attractions planned by the Victoria Conservative Association for its annual picnic at the Willows Park Wednesday evening. With several Conservative members of the Senate, the House of Commons and the Provincial Legislature in the city, it is anticipated that this event will be marked by strong competition.

Colonel Cyrus Peck, V.C., Conservative member of the Legislature for the Islands, is the chief favorite in pre-picnic betting, it is stated.

A large variety of competitions for young and old is promised by Conservatives in charge of the picnic. R. H. Pooley, British Columbia Conservative leader, has donated a cup which will be presented to the photographer who takes the best picture of the picnic. Another contest which is attracting attention is that in which Victorians are asked to submit

Speaking of Operations, Frank Faces Forty-third

FRANK SYKEN

By GEORGE BRITT

New York, Aug. 3.—Speaking of operations, smiling Frank Syken can keep on talking from experience long after most of the doctors, even the wound men, have run out of anything to say.

He has undergone forty-two operations in the last ten years, and as soon as the "knives" are down around the whole lot, he is back to work. Broome Street, produce the benefit entertainment they are arranging, he is to have his forty-third. He has been whittled away night both his arms above the elbow. Aside from that, he has a robust chest, bright eyes and a healthy coat of tan.

And is he downhearted?

"The captain doesn't give up his nap until the last man is off," says Syken, "and so long as my head is here I am going to hold it up and keep fighting."

"My flag is still flying. Bad has been made out of good, and it's up to me to make good out of bad. Taking ether doesn't bother me any more. I just wake up like I had been asleep, and I'm out of bed the next morning eating a big breakfast."

Syken's troubles haven't come singly. Ten years ago he was twenty-five years old, engaged to be married, as steady and industrious as a young plumber as one could find.

Two months before the day set for his wedding, while he was working in a cellar, some heavy beam became loose and fell on his foot. Several toes were crushed, but he was able to walk and for six weeks he kept on work. Then he had to go to a hospital and one toe was amputated. On one of his trips to see his doctor that winter, while waiting for a street-car, his injured foot became frostbitten. That increased the trouble.

So began the exhausting succession of amputations. From crutches he passed to a self-propelled wheelchair. He conducted a news stand for a while, but his growing helplessness and the interruption of his absences in hospitals made that impossible. He lives now with his brother, Meyer, who is his nurse and companion. Every bright day Meyer wheels him out on to the streets. He doesn't beg or just sits. And month by month he sees the gangrenous infection gnawing inch by inch from the stubs of his limbs.

"I've tried here, telling them things I learned in hospitals or just knew anyway," Syken says in pride at his usefulness.

"Of course, I never did myself any good, but then the best doctors in New York didn't either. But there's an old lady over on Delancey Street who was laid up six months with her hand. I had them slice some tomatoes and put on it, and she got all right. And another one, I told her to grease her hand with cold cream or anything to soften it up and then to put it in the sun. It cured her. There's lots of neighbors I've cured. Just ask them, people, just people. It's not so bad sitting and watching them. It's a great sight, these streets over here. I'll talk to anybody."

"It gives me a laugh to watch them getting mad and excited about little things that—bothers them. When I know get that way, I start kidding them. And pretty soon they are laughing, too."

"Sure, there's been times when I didn't want to go through with it and when I felt like ending it all myself. But there are my brother Harry's three little orphans. They are all boys. Robert, Sammy and Murray, seven, five and three years old. I may not be much good to them, but I am going to stay around and watch them anyhow. It's pretty tough to be a little orphan, you know, and I feel sorry for them."
